Morris, a gentleman and a veteran in the jewelry business, you have a dead certainty of getting what you ask for, at prices which defy competition. Go and see him and be happy.

JOHN HAVES an employe at the Excelsion John Hayes, an employe at the Excelsion School Furniture Company, on Walnut street, above Third, on Monday afternoon fell through the hatchway, from the first floor to the celar below, a distance of about twenty feet. He narrowly missed failing upon a heap of iron that was lying beneath the opening. He was picked up insensible, and after recovering it was found that he had sustained severe injuries on the head.

he had sustained severe injuries on the head.

WE DON'T know whether or not their fond parents objected to the match, as he was a tender youth of forty-two or thereabouts, and she a blushing damsel of twenty-seven, so to speak, but an how Henry Collins and Rebecca Grimsley, bo.h of Hanging Rock, O., accompanied by a few choice spirits, strolled into 'Squire Evitt's office on Sixth street this afternoon, and Henry and Rebecca were married. The kissing of the bride want's all done by the intimate friends either, for the galiant 'Squire Evitt imprinted a kiss on Becky's lips, too, and the "paroxysmat" smack that Constable Lacy a milmstered could be heard aim st across the street. No cards.

Sixleenth Ward Heard From. A lively row occurred last night between an ex-policeman named Wm. James and a notoriing, in the neighborhood of ten o'clock, Geo.

ing, in the neighborhood of ten o'clock, Geo. Campbell was sitting in a saloon at the corner of Betts and Cutter streets, writing an advertisement for one of the newspapers, the Larkin brothers and quite a number of their crew being present. Mr. Campbell, after he had finished writing, sent for Win. James, who on catering, heard some one exclaim: "There's James, now give it to him." One of the larkins immediately assailed him, and a rough and timble set-to was sengaged in.

Some one piuned James' hands behind his back, and then Larkin approached behind James and struck him twice with some from knuckles. The officers of that beat find carae in and arrested James. Mr. George Campbell a sked them to arrest Larkin, who was making his escape, and Campbell attempted to resist him in his flight. Hereupon the officers arrested Campbell, and took both to Ninth-street Station, where they gave ball. In the Pelice Court this morning James was found guilty of disorderly conduct and fined 5a and costs. Campbell was shown to not have had anything to do in the aftern, and was accordance.
